Information Security for Managers and Boards Training

Self-paced online training (video) · 10 modules · about 105 min of video · about 3 hours in total · English, with captions

Lead information security as a manager or board member: ISO/IEC 27001 leadership duties, risk appetite and risk acceptance, management review, NIS2 management duties and the questions that test what you are told.

WHO IT IS FOR

Board members, non-executive directors, chief executives, senior managers, department heads and risk and compliance managers who approve security budgets, accept risks, chair management reviews or answer to clients and regulators for information security.

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

- Explain why information security is a leadership duty and what ISO/IEC 27001 clause 5 requires of top management
- Set a risk appetite and risk acceptance criteria that guide security decisions
- Decide on risk treatment and accept residual risk on the basis of clear information
- Read a security report and chair a management review that leads to decisions
- Describe the NIS2 duties of management bodies: approval, oversight, training and incident reporting
- Ask the questions that test whether security is working, and act on the answers
